Good Governance: Enhancing Your Board's Leadership

Hands-on or Hands-off? Clarifying leadership expectations.

Participate in a special two-hour workshop on Good Governance: Enhancing Your Board's Leadership.

A nonprofit board can be considered hands-on or hands-off, but its success can not be measured in terms of “hands” — good governance derives from the engagement of the full body of the board. Even in leading from the heart, board members must execute their roles as stewards, protectors, ambassadors, cheerleaders, and more.

Clarifying leadership expectations is critical to enhancing governance capacity. This program will highlight the leadership roles of the board and explore the factors that influence board culture and effectiveness.
